CHOWDER PARTY

CLAM CHOWDER KING of Tufts College is Prof. Crosby F. Baker, A’10, G’11, Tufts Chemistry Department head, who on Homecoming Day (top picture) serves petite Elizabeth Brannan, daughter of Francis F. Brannan, C’38, and her mother, who holds her beaker. (Lower right) “Here’s to more chowder parties!” say Professor and Mrs. Baker, his chief aide, as they test the results of their cooking. Just a pinch more salt, the cook decides, but other tricks of how the succulent chowder is prepared on the pot furnace at other times used as a fire assay for gold and silver are a secret.
